ISSUE 5 FRIDAY JULY 30, 2010

Masterchef's Jimmy Seervai is cooking at the Market on Saturday July 31!

Jimmy Seervai, fourth place-getter on MasterChef, will this weekend be cooking up a storm at the Adelaide Hills Farmers Market.

Born in India and known for his hot and spicy food, Jimmy will be providing a curry cooking demonstration at the weekly Hills markets from 9am on Saturday, July 31, Mt Barker.

Describing himself as 'the clown of the pack' when on MasterChef, Jimmy will provide an entertaining demonstration at Richard Gunner's Fine Meat stall using fresh produce from the Adelaide Hills.

We will have samples of his butter chicken and beef vindaloo to hand out and some recipe cards that Jimmy may sign for people.

Since Masterchef, Jimmy has developed his own range of simmer sauces, and some of these will be available for sale from Richard Gunners' Fine Meats on the day.

AHFM Inaugural Annual General Meeting

As an incorporated not-for-profit organization we will be holding our first AGM on Monday October 11 at 6pm, in room D44 in the Mt Barker Library. A light supper will be offered at the conclusion of the meeting.

As members you are invited to attend to have your say in who and how your market is operated.

There are several committee positions that will need to be elected.

Nomination forms will be available shortly and any member can nominate another member, or themselves to be able to contribute to the decision making and operation of your Market.

For catering purposes, can you please R.S.V.P. to manager@ahfm.org.au.

ISSUE 5 FRIDAY

Stallholder News

We have new stall, Simple Pleasures who are bringing a fantastic range of sweet treats including brownies, honey crackles, and some delightful truffles. You can find them in site 24, next to Hahndorf Gourmet.

Don't forget Nuts About Fruit Trees in site 50. Dan is bringing some immature fruit trees - perfect for the home gardener!

Alex's Handmade Soaps are also selling take home meals and sauces, you can find Nicky and her new range of products in site 22.

Aay's have some new lines including organically grown turnips and baby spinach.

Trading Hours

We are still working towards changing our trading hours to 9am to 1pm.

As we share car parking space with other businesses which can get busy from around 11am, we request that our AHFM members do not park in the bottom section, closest to Auchendarroch and Wallis from around 11am on Saturday mornings.

Thank you for your understanding in this matter.

You can find Roger and Jo in site 25.

We have a new breakfast stall, The Fat Pony. Alice and her team will be selling a great selection of breakfast choices, including waffles, quiches, soups, banana bread and bacon and egg rolls. You will find them in site 1, next to Govinda's.

BT Vegetables are bringing a selection of Virginia vegetables, including capsicums, tomatoes, swedes, turnips, parsnips, broccoli, cabbage, and cauliflowers. You can find Mai and Nick in site 40, near Tobalong Tomatoes.

DJ's Citrus have new season oranges, as well as some delicious citrus-inspired baked goods, you can find them in site 20. The melting moments are fantastic!

Feast!@ The Chop Shop will now be known as Richard Gunners' Fine Meat. They have invested in a new truck to stock their entire range of high quality meat. You can find Frank & Richard in their normal spot in site 31.

Alexandra's Choice in site 18 have just introduced a new product, oatmeal. Perfect for those cold winter mornings.

AHFM 2011 Memberships

Your 2010 AHFM membership will expire on December 31, 2010. The committee decided as a thank you to our supporters who became members in 2010, they will be able to renew their membership for 2011 for the same full year price that membership cost in 2010, that is $45.

From October 2011 memberships will be available for new members for $50, for 15 months of membership.

Membership benefits include 10% discount at all stalls!
